

The Spiritual Significance Of Music

LAURA BUSHNELL

In my reality everything is spiritual. What goes better with anything than music? Music opens up the body and allows the spirit to soar. It lifts us out of the day to day and allows us to bring light into our minds, our hearts, and our bodies. We are perfectly aligned when we hear music that stirs us. We become one with ourselves, our world, and leave fear behind. Music allows us to bring ourselves back to the now. It is the heart calling to itself. Music comes from the heart starting with the beat of the drum, and lifts us into our souls as we listen to a violin. Each note resonates with our chakras which actually look like CDs. I feel music is a soul's highest calling. Bless the music.
