PETR "CHRISTOPHER" KRYSSTOF

Music or any art is the way of expression. Sometimes you have a bad day or have something on your mind, and now you know what is the best thing to do. Art and music can be your way to say something. To create music or leave something behind you. Behind your time, bad or good, when you go through this life. When I'm creating music and lyrics there is always something from my life. Something that I was thinking about or sometimes if I would like to say something. Somehow to express myself. Say something about me or about things what were, or are somehow interesting and important to me. Any kind of art was always here and always will be.
